

Wightman Telecom Ltd. Acceptable Use Policy

WIGHTMAN INTERNET (a division of Wightman Telephone Limited) is an Internet Service Provider, and use of WIGHTMAN INTERNET's facilities by any Customer must be consistent with WIGHTMAN INTERNET's Acceptable Use Policy. The ultimate responsibility for network traffic that does not conform to this policy lies with the individual end-user who originates that traffic and all consequences lie with this individual. WIGHTMAN INTERNET does not assume any responsibility for information transmitted by anyone other than an owner, agent or employee of this company.

In consideration of Wightman Internet supplying the services, the Customer agrees to abide by the local, provincial and Canadian federal laws, and the guidelines set forth below:

1. General Conduct

WIGHTMAN INTERNET's Internet services may be used for lawful purposes only. Transmission, distribution, or storage of any information, data or material that is in violation of International regulations, Canadian federal law, or provincial law is strictly prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to material protected by copyright, trademark, trade secret or any other statute. WIGHTMAN INTERNET reserves the right to discard any such illegal material, which may be stored on its servers.

The Customer is prohibited from transmitting on or through any of WIGHTMAN INTERNET services any material that is, in WIGHTMAN INTERNET's sole discretion, unlawful, obscene, threatening, abusive, hateful, libelous, or that would encourage conduct that constitutes a criminal offense, or would otherwise violate any provincial, federal or international law.

The resale of WIGHTMAN INTERNET products and services is prohibited, unless permission is specifically granted and documented in a written agreement.

WIGHTMAN INTERNET reserves the right to cancel or suspend any Customer service for non-payment of fees or violation of its Acceptable Use Policy.

2. Network Security

Users who violate systems or network security may incur criminal prosecution under Canadian federal laws or international laws. WIGHTMAN INTERNET will fully cooperate with investigations with respect to security violations within this site or other sites, including full cooperation with law enforcement agencies in the investigation of suspected criminal activities.

Customers are responsible for maintaining the secrecy of their network access codes (usernames and passwords). Customers are advised not to share such information with others.

Password security is the responsibility of the individual user. Good passwords should be a minimum of six characters long, contain a least one number or symbol and not be based on any dictionary word or common name.

Customers may not attempt to circumvent user authentication, or security of any host, network, or account. This includes, but is not limited to accessing data not intended for the Customer, logging into an account or server which the Customer is not expressly authorized to access, or probing the security of other networks such as running scanning software such as SATAN or ISS.

Customers may not attempt to interfere with the service to any user, host or network (i.e. denial of service attacks). This includes, but is not limited to, ping flooding of networks, or deliberate attempts to overload or impede a service or attempts to crash a host.

Customers may not attempt to impersonate others or use IRC, WebChat, or any other chat program anonymously by disguising their hostname or username.

Customers are prohibited from running any software program or application that will interfere with or deny service to other users on any server or host.

3. E-mail

Electronic mail passes through multiple mail servers on the Internet. WIGHTMAN INTERNET does not guarantee privacy for the Customer's e-mail. Customers requiring privacy are therefore notified to use encryption technology to render their messages unreadable by potential eavesdroppers. WIGHTMAN INTERNET does not guarantee the delivery, prompt or otherwise, of the Customer's email.

With respect to WIGHTMAN INTERNET's e-mail servers, WIGHTMAN INTERNET places a high value on user privacy and will only examine a user's e-mail when absolutely required, for example during troubleshooting procedures or in cooperation with law enforcement authorities upon presentation of a search warrant for information.

Harassment, whether through language, frequency, or size of messages is prohibited.

Customers are strictly prohibited from sending unsolicited bulk e-mail messages ("junk mail", "UCE", or "spam"). Such material may only be sent to those who have explicitly requested it. If a recipient asks to stop receiving e-mail, the Customer must not send that person any further e-mail.

Customers may not forward or otherwise propagate chain letters, pyramid schemes, or other illegal enterprises, whether or not the recipient wishes to receive such e-mail.

Malicious e-mail, including but not limited to "e-mail bombing" (flooding a user or site with numerous large messages) is prohibited.

Forging e-mail header information is prohibited.

Posting to Usenet Newsgroups must comply with the written charters or FAQ's for those newsgroups. Advertisements should only be posted to newsgroups whose charter/FAQ's explicitly permit such traffic.

4. Extended Use and Inactivity.

Use of WIGHTMAN INTERNET Services on a standby or inactive basis in order to maintain a connection is prohibited. This includes, without limitation, taking any action to defeat WIGHTMAN INTERNET's idle timeout or similar mechanism. WIGHTMAN INTERNET reserves the right to terminate an end user's online session at any time.

5. Web Services

WIGHTMAN INTERNET provides web services to its Customers. Web pages reside on WIGHTMAN INTERNET owned computer equipment giving WIGHTMAN INTERNET some ethical responsibility for the content of such pages. WIGHTMAN INTERNET reserves the right (and the Customer agrees under this Acceptable Use Policy), under its sole discretion, to remove any web content that it deems inappropriate. This includes, but is not limited to, downloadable virus code or obscenity.
